AT CAMP FORSYTH

The Gallant Second Militia Regiment

Lives Comfortably in a Tented Town.

A Complete List of Those in Camp.

The Gist of the General Orders Issued.

Numerous Newsy Notes That Tell Briefly the Story of the Encampment and the Campers.

Business is running smoothly at Camp Forsyth to-day, and the regular work of the camp has begun in earnest. Everything is now running smoothly, and the routine is being observed.

Yesterday afternoon was spent in arranging quarters and the only ceremonies observed were guard mount and dress parade.

Immediately upon the arrival of the soldiers at camp yesterday afternoon a number of orders were read to the regiment by Adjutant Campbell. One of these christened the camp "Forsyth," and another was the daily program as printed in the Bee yesterday.

Assignments for camp were made as follows: Adjutant First Battalion—First Lieutenant R. B. Landfair, Company K.

Adjutant Second Battalion—First Lieutenant M. R. Reichelderfer, Company C.

Regimental Sergeant Major—Louis Lang.

Sergeant Major, First Batallion—Sergeant J. W. Sterrett, Company K.

Sergeant-Major, Second Battalion—Sergeant W. S. Rice, Co. D.

Color Sergeants—Knox Wright, Co. F, and Joe Enos, Co. H.

Color Corporals—Gus Carner, Co. A, and Thomas Fritter.

Headquarters Clerks—Privates Howard Newell, Co. B, and George McKee, Co. H.

Quartermaster's Clerk—Private E. P. Wyandt, Co. D.

Regimental Postmaster—Wagner D. E. Goodin, Co. G.

In compliance with the new regulations an order was read dividing the regiment into two battalions, with companies C, I, B, K and A in the first, and companies H, F, D and G in the second. The first is in command of Major Byron M. Clen Dening, and the second is under Major Worthington Kountsman.

After these orders were finished the regiment was dismissed.

Capt. F. M. Bell, of Co. C, was officer of the day yesterday, with Lieutenant Eversman, of Co. H, and Lieutenant Smith, of Co. D, as officers of the guard.

To-day Capt. Bryant, of Co. H, is officer of the day, and Lieuts. Hitchcock and Deming officers of the guard.

The regiment settled down at Presque Isle yesterday in a very familiar manner, just as though they belonged there, and nearly all expressed pleasure at being able to return here. The camp is laid out the same as it was before, with the company tents in the field back of the grove, and the headquarters and staff officers' tents just on the edge of the grove, and shaded by the magnificent trees.

Under the new regulations the tents of the majors are not on headquarters street, but are on a street of their own, just in front of headquarters.

A large number of ladies are in camp, wives and friends of the officers. Their tents are on a pretty street, just back of headquarters. They are within the guard line, however, and compose a very important part of the camp.

Col. Collins was unable to bring his wife to this camp, but he has with him to represent headquarters, his cousin, Mrs. George M. Moore, and Mrs. Goodin, of Kenton.

Among others who have ladies are Major Clen Dening with his wife; Major Kountsman, wife and family; Surgeon Paul, wife and family; Surgeon Glenn, wife and family; Quartermaster Lowrey, wife and family; Captain J. A. Knert, wife and family; Captain Bell, wife, mother and sister; Capt. Reams and wife; Captain Davis and wife; Capt. Bryant and wife; Capt. Hauser and wife; Lieutenant Landfair and wife, Company K; Lieutenant Wilson and wife, Company G; Lieutenant Smith and wife, Company D; Lieutenant Foreman and wife, Company K; Lieutenant Taylor and wife, Company A. Several other ladies are also expected during camp, and the social feature promises to be one of the best attractions.

New Tactics.

The Second regiment uses the new tactics entirely and everything about camp is done accordingly. This is the first time that the regiment has been thrown together under these regulations. There were a few hitches at guard mount and dress parade yesterday, but they were of small consequence and not more than is usual the first day in camp anyhow. The dress parade under these regulations is a very different affair from the old and is very interesting.

Many questions and points arise in regard to interpretation of new orders, but by the end of the week these will all be settled.

The Second regiment is officered as follows:

Major Cloning and wife came all the way f Colorado to attend this camp. Thor reports the weather very differe there and says he experienced a storm last week.

Quartermas Sergeant Fleck is considered the man in that office of the state. He of the hardest workers around cam is constantly on the go, providing f wants of the men.

The Imp Presence of Comanche Dick, alias Capt. Long, of Co. I, is right on hand, and it is rumored that he is tryig to rival some of the staff officers as a lady's man. Anyhow he is great on cake.

The great Col. Brick, who for many years has had charge of the regiment's heavy artillery, has now been transferred to a "signal corps," but he says that he can now do even more effective work than ever, on the same line.

Capt. Knert's sons, Willie, Charlie and Ira are in camp with the Kenton boys. They used to be regimental markers, but the new tactics does away with markers, so they will put in their time visiting the various companies where they are great favorites.

Company G, of Kenton, prides itself on having the best three lady cooks on record, and the members of the press are to be thrice welcome at their board. They eat at 6 a. m., 12 m. and 6 p. m. The newspaper boys will paste the hours in their hats.

The Lima City Guards, Company C, are right in line. It is one of the best known companies in the state. It just won the second prize of $750 in the Grand Maiden infantry drill at Omaha in June. Capt. Bell, of the company, also won a $200 sword on that occasion.

Company C, of Lima, commanded by Capt. Bell, is one of the crack companies of the state, and two weeks ago they carried off the first prize at the competitive drill at Omaha, and Capt. Bell received a handsome sword as the best commanding officer.

There was a mistake somewhere regarding Co. E, of Tiffin, and they did not arrive in camp yesterday. Through a hitch in the office of the adjutant general the company has not yet been assigned or ordered to camp, and they did not receive their guns and uniforms until last week.

Major W. O. Bulger, Lieutenant Jacob Krueger, and Sergeants F. P. Culp and Reilly, of the Sixteenth regiment, of Fostoria, arrived in the city this morning and are visiting the Second regiment camp to-day. Lieut. Col. Lemmon and Major E. B. King also arrived later in the day.

The Tiffin Rifles, the latest company in the regiment, was mustered in June 24, 1892. It is recruited of the best material in the city and has the enthusiastic backing of the citizens of Tiffin. Many of the young society men are members as well as representatives of all professions. The company was christened by a citizens' committee of which Gen. Gibson was chairman. The company can easily be increased to the limit allowed by law when sufficient equipment is provided. The captain was senior captain and adjutant of the State university's crack battalion, is a graduate of Cornell, and studied under army officers at both the above institutions.

Col. Howe, assistant adjutant general of the state, was at one time commanding officer of Company G, of Kenton. The company was organized in 1877 by Col. Howe and Dr. L. B. Tyson, and many of the now best citizens of the place were among its first members. They were all subjected to an individual examination as to physical condition by Dr. W. H. Philips, who was then surgeon-general of Ohio on Gov. R. M. Bishop's staff. The first election resulted in the choosing of Dr. Tyson as commanding officer of the company, and his commission continued through 1877 and 78, during which time the Seventh regiment, of which Company G was a part, held four camps in this city under command of Col. F. S. Case. In '79 J. M. Peirce succeeded Dr. Tyson to the captaincy, and in '80 H. F. Collins was chosen to command. During both these years the regiment encamped at Springfield. The company again changed commanders in '81, James C. Howe assuming the captaincy.

NINE PERSONS KILLED.

The Doty Family Meet Death in a Storm.

Disaster Wrought by the Storm That Swept Over the Country on Sunday Night.

Wheeling, W. Va., July 26.—The severe storm which passed over this portion of the country Sunday night was more disastrous in its results than was at firs threamed of. It is now known that there was considerable loss of life besides some destruction of property by lightning on Long Run in Marshall county, a few miles south of Wheeling.

An entire family of nine persons is reported to have been swept from the face of the earth by a sudden flood following a cloud-burst.

The family consisted of William Doty and wife, their three children, Doty's father and mother, Mrs. Doty's mother and a servant girl.

The house was situated in a ravine and was swept away by the torrent.

Not one of the sleeping occupants was left to tell the tale.

The first known of the disaster was the finding of the servant girl this morning in the yard of a neighbor some distance from where the fated house stood.

It is also reported that the body of Doty and those of the children have been found at the mouth of the creek which empties into the Ohio river.

Another house was swept away by the same torrent, but all the occupants are believed to have escaped.

At Proctor, on the Ohio River railroad, a long trestle was washed out and a freight train was wrecked. Twenty-eight cars were piled up, and the engineer, Will Beasley, of Parkersburg, was injured so that his leg had to be amputated to-day.

At Parkersburg the state militia is in annual encampment and this afternoon a second storm wrecked the camp. The tents were blown down. None of the troops were hurt, but several ladies who were visiting the camp narrowly escaped serious injury. Near the encampment the stable of C. H. Shattuck's stock farm was struck by lightning and several blooded horses were killed. In this city no damage whatever was done by the storm.

It is necessary for the employes of five firms to sign the petition in order that the court may have jurisdiction and this has been complied with.

Pittsburg, July 26.—Alexander Bergman, the anarchist, who attempted to assassinate H. C. Frick on Saturday, will not be permitted to escape with the punishment of seven years in prison provided for a single case of felonious assault.

Six informations were made against him, charging him with offenses under which he can receive sentences aggregating thirty-three years in the penitentiary.

The formal informations were made before Alderman James McMasters by Secretary Lovejoy, of the Carnegie Steel company, limited, at 6 o'clock this evening.

Three are for felonious assault and three for entering a building for the purpose of committing a felonious assault.

Two of the informations are for assaulting Frick and one for the attempt on the life of Vice-Chairman Leisenman, who was in the office with Mr. Frick at the time. The other three charges are alike, except that the offenses were committed on separate dates, the dates named being July 5, 22 and 23.

Alderman McMasters immediately made out the warrants and placed them in the hands of Constable Webber, who went through the form of presenting them at the jail.

The alderman fixed next Saturday as the time for holding the preliminary hearings. Bail was fixed at $5,000 in each of the cases for assaulting Chairman Frick and $1,000 in each of the other four charges, making $14,000 in all. The extreme penalty for felonious assault is seven years and for entering a building with felonious intent four years. If he gets the limit he will have 33 years in the penitentiary in which to study on his vicious theories of nihilism and anarchy. The charge of carrying concealed weapons, upon which another year could be added, may also be preferred.

THE FRICK ASSASSIN.

The Prisoner Talks About Himself—Ready for His Punishment.

Pittsburg, July 26.—Bergman, the would-be-slayer of Mr. Frick, is passing his time quietly in jail. He arose at 6 o'clock this morning and the first person he saw was Warden McAleese. His first question was in reference to Mr. Frick's condition, and the warden informed him that Mr. Frick would recover.

"Well, I'm sorry for that," said Bergman.

Just at this time one of the guards came along and left a loaf of bread and some fresh water in Bergman's cell.

"What's that?" asked the young anarchist.

"Why, that's your breakfast," said the warden.

"Is that all I get? At the other prison I was in Saturday they gave me eggs and coffee. Can't I get a little ham and eggs for my breakfast?"

"That is our regular fare, and you will have to live on it."

"How many meals do I get a day?"

"Three," said Warden McAleese, with a smile.

"Are they all like this one?" he asked.

"Oh, no; we have some variety."

"At what times do I get the three meals?"

"Well, you get your breakfast now, and at dinner time you get two meals," said the warden with a smile.

"Don't I get any supper?"

"Yes, you get that at dinner time."

"This is a great place to live," he said and then started on other subjects.

"I was born in St. Petersburg, Russia, and was educated at the gymnasium, one of the leading colleges at that place. I speak very poor English," he said to the warden, "as I have to take it from the Latin."

"What do the people say about my act?" he rapidly asked.

"They say it was a most cowardly act; and you have no sympathizers."

"Oh, yes I have," he replied. "I know the people will be with me, and I am sorry I made a bad job of it."

"Well, don't you know that if Mr. Frick dies that you will be hanged; and if he lives you will have a long time in the penitentiary?"

"I know all that. I looked the matter up, and am willing to stand the consequences, no matter what they are."

"What do the newspapers say about me?" was the next question.

"They say you are a bum printer, who only earned $8 per week." was the reply.

"Hum," was the reply. "That comes from the capitalistic press. I was a job printer and now all about the business. In fact, I always earned the highest salary. Some people seem to think I had some confederates, but that is a mistake. I did the whole thing myself, and all credit belongs to me. The workingmen of this country are with me in this affair."

The young man then asked for a newspaper. He said he wanted to see what they said about him.

Father Griffin was at the jail this morning, and said the gymnasium at St. Petersburg, the college Bergman referred to, was one of the best colleges in Russia. The man speaks four different languages.

Warden McAleese says it is his opinion the man is not crazy.

CARNEGIE UNDER COVER.

Hard Work to Get Track of the Secluded Iron King.

London, July 26.—Immediately upon the receipt in this city, Saturday afternoon, of the news of the shooting of H. C. Frick, chairman of the Carnegie Steel company, efforts were made to get into communication with Mr. Andrew Carnegie, who is now in Scotland, to obtain a statement from him in regard to the attack upon Mr. Frick, but this was impossible, as Mr. Carnegie is ensconsed at Rannoch Lodge, on Loch Hannoch, the nearest telegraph and railway station to which is 35 miles distant. He has taken all possible precautions to prevent any person from obtaining access to him and has positively refused to answer any telegrams or letters in any way connected with affairs at Homestead. Mr. Carnegie has preserved the same moody silence toward all the members of the American legation here, and other persons in London with whom he is usually in communication have not heard a word from him since the beginning of the troubles at Homestead. The news of the shooting of Mr. Frick has intensified the feeling of all classes against Mr. Carnegie.

A largely attended meeting of the labor representative leaders was held in this city yesterday, at which a resolution was adopted strongly condemning the course of Mr. Carnegie in regard to the Homestead troubles. The resolution added that should Mr. Carnegie insult British workmen by further philanthropic efforts in their behalf, it was hoped that they would show their detestation of him by contemptuously refusing to accept any offers of help from him.

CARNEGIE WILL NOT RETURN.

He Learned of the Shooting of Mr. Frick Yesterday.

Pittsburg, July 26.—When he was told that under the six informations filed against him by Secretary Lovejoy, charging felonious shooting, felonious cutting and felonious entry, he could upon conviction be sentenced to 33 years' imprisonment, Bergman merely shrugged his shoulders, and then going to the further corner of his cell puffed viciously at his cigarette.

The report from Mr. Frick's home this morning was that all through the night his condition was altogether satisfactory. He slept most of the night and awoke this morning refreshed and cheerful. No dangerous symptoms have developed and the danger is believed to be over unless some unexpected complication should arise.

His physicians are entirely satisfied with the condition of their patient.

Every symtom is carefully watched and so far none to be feared have developed. The officials of the company intend to show that they are capable of taking care of the present situation, even with Mr. Carnegie away and Mr. Frick disabled. This morning Mr. Lovejoy said: "Mr. Carnegie will not come here until we send for him. He cabled asking if his presence was needed, and was answered that it was not; that we were in good shape and that it was not necessary for him to come. Mr. Carnegie was away from a telegraph station and did not learn of the shooting until yesterday."

A MONUMENTAL CRIME.

So Says Charles S. Burgoyne, Regarding the Punishment of Iams.

New York, July 26.—Charles S. Burgoyne, the law printer of No. 146 Center street, who is known to nearly every lawyer and law firm in New York, today sent the following dispatch to Lieut.-Colonel Streator, who is in command of the Tenth regiment, which is stationed at Homestead during the trouble at the Carnegie works:

"To Colonel Streator, Homestead, Pa.:

"Law-abiding men, who believe that every man is entitled to trial before condemnation and punishment, will agree with me that the outrage perpetrated by you, endorsed by your superior officers, and participated in by your regimental surgeons, is a crime only paralleled by the crime of a mob. My check for a good round sum is at the disposal of my Pennsylvania lawyer, who will undertake to bring you to justice. Believe me, there are many men in this city, not only humble citizens like myself, but military men as well, who are willing to loosen their purse strings that such a monumental crime may not go unpunished.

"C. G. BURGOYNE."

Mr. Burgoyne is an American by birth and served in a Pennsylvania regiment in the late war.

DRAWING THE NET

Around the Conspirators Who Tried to Kill Frick.

Long Branch, N. J., July 26.—The police here received word yesterday from Superintendent O'Mara, of the Pittsburg police to arrest F. Mollick, charged with being accessory to the attempted assassination of H. C. Frick.

Mollick was employed as a journeyman baker by J. J. Heidel, a confectioner of this place. When the police went to arrest him they found that he had quietly left sometime during the forenoon. Mollick came to Long Branch about three weeks ago.

On Wednesday or Thursday last, Mollick, as he called himself, went to the Adams Express office and sent a money package to A. Berkman, Allegheny City.

Postmaster Lane was seen by the police and stated that Mollick had received letters through the office. It is known whence his letters came. Mollick is described as heavy set, broad shoulders and of German parentage. He has dark hair, is five feet seven inches high, has black eyes and is about 25 or 30 years old.

He was very reticent while here and as far as is known made no acquaintance. He watched the

LIKE A TINDER BOX

The Sawdust Town of Bay City, Mich.,

Burned Before a Living Gale of Wind.

Thirty-Six Blocks of Buildings Consumed.

Loss Will Reach Over a Million Dollars.

No Efforts of the Firemen Could Stay the Raging Conflagration—Three Hundred Families Rendered Homeless.

Bay City, Mich., July 26.—The greatest conflagration which ever visited Bay City broke out at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the lumber manufacturing establishment of Miller & Turner, situated on the west side of Water street at the foot of Twenty-ninth street.

A brisk southwest wind was blowing at the time which fanned the flames into a roaring conflagration and swept them across Water street into the settled district.

The east side of water street, where the fire crossed, was built up with stores, hotels and restaurants. Nearly all the buildings were constructed of wood and burned like tinder. The wind increased as the flames progressed, and in an hour the fire had consumed Miller & Turner's entire plant, comprising a saw mill, salt blocks, dry kilns, and a large quantity of lumber.

The flames had also traveled three blocks to the eastward, cutting a swath two blocks wide. At this point the path of the conflagration broadened and block after block was swept over with astonishing rapidity. The scenes which ensued beggared description.

Thousands of men, women and children rushed about, all engaged in removing furniture and other household effects from before the advancing flames. Every vehicle in the city adapted to the purpose was on the ground, and, as is always the case at such times, the owners charged fabulous prices for services.

At 5 o'clock about thirty blocks had been burned over, while twenty more were supplying fresh fuel to the devouring element. When the chief of the fire department first realized the extent of the danger, he telegraphed to Saginaw, Flint and Detroit for assistance. Saginaw and Flint responded, each city sending an engine and quantities of hose. Nearly all of West Bay City's equipage came to the scene of disaster and lent such assistance as lay in the power of the firemen.

But with hundreds of streams playing on the fire, the flames pursued their course, licking up house after house, until at 8 o'clock upwards of 300 dwellings had been destroyed, and the conflagration was still sweeping towards the eastern limits of the city. While the majority of the buildings burned belonged to the working people, many fine residences have been consumed. Two churches, four hotels and about 40 stores of all varieties are included among structures which have contributed fuel to the flames.

Over 36 blocks of the city were completely destroyed, entailing a loss of $1,000,000, leaving 300 families homeless, and, it is feared, causing the loss of several lives.

The dead so far as known are: Mrs. Frank Mason and her two children, burned. She went into her house to get her children and in an incredibly short time the building was in flames. They were not seen to come out.

Some of the heaviest losers are: E. Reynolds, shoe store, $3,000; G. C. Beebe, drugs, $2,500; Gardner & Laird, furniture and stoves, $8,000; Stover & Larkin, hardware, $12,000; Miller & Turner, mill and lumber, $150,000; Miller's lumber yard, $25,000; Brusie & Forcia, general store, $15,000; A. B. Gould, hotel and five houses, $7,000.

NEWS FROM COLUMBUS.

Action to Reclaim the Canal Lands.

General News of Interest to Bee Readers From the State Capital.

Columbus, July 26.—The state canal commission is about to proceed against individuals who are illegally occupying state canal lands in the city of Cincinnati. Plats and abstracts of all the property abutting the canal from the corporation line to the river has been secured by the commission. It is estimated that the value of the land in question will approach two million dollars. The commission will ask the attorney-general to bring ejectment proceedings against the Pan Handle Railroad company, which is occupying for a roadbed a portion of the abandoned canal between Broadway and the river. The commission holds that the state had no right to abandon this property without the consent of the general government.

Secretary of State Poorman, Auditor Poe and Superintendent of Printing Hinkle opened the bids for state printing. There were six bidders, as follows: Laning & Co., Norwalk; Winters Printing Company, Springfield; Spahr & Glenn, Columbus; Westbote Printing Company, Myers Bros., and Hann & Adair, Columbus. Laning & Co. were the lowest bidders, but the contract will not be awarded until next Wednesday, in the meantime Superintendent Hinkle will examine the Norwalk plant to see if they can turn out the work. This firm will undoubtedly be awarded the contract.

Governor McKinley and wife returned late yesterday afternoon from Cleveland via Canton, in which latter place they spent Sunday. The first official act of the governor upon his return was to commission Rev. Daniel H. Evans, of Youngstown, a member of the board of trustees of Miama university, Mr. Evans succeeds Hon. Benjamin W. Chidlaw, deceased, of Hamilton county, for the unexpired term expiring February 28, 1899.

Another very obstreperous and vicious convict was reported to the penitentiary officials yesterday. Guard Lysle, of Hayden's shipping room, was the victim of an unprovoked assault made by Al. C. Meyers, a Greene county man. The convict made for the man without any reason, but the blow was parried and landed only lightly on Lysle's chin. The guards then securely bound him and led him to his cell. Meyers is serving an eight-year sentence for shooting to kill, and was received February 3, 1892.

Dr. Probst, secretary of the state board of health, having returned from the small-pox infected district of Pomeroy, says there is no occasion for alarm. The houses are carefully guarded and a recurrence of the epidemic is barely possible.

Master World's Fair Commissioner Daniel J. Ryan has called a meeting of the Ohio members and heads of departments at Chicago for to-day. The meeting will be for the purpose of inspecting the Ohio buildings and discussing the various exhibits, space, etc., of the departments.

SHOT DEAD.

A Wretch Meets Death at the Hands of His Brother-in-law.

New Orleans, July 26.—A. W. Alexander, a labor agent was shot and instantly killed by his brother-in-law, A. H. Jones, at the door of the latter's residence, No. 16 South Rampart street, at 7 o'clock last evening.

He was a gay Lothario and treated his wife most brutally. He left her but returned two years ago, since which time she has lived a dog's life with him. He frequently threatened to kill her and her family.

Yesterday he attempted to cut her throat. She told her brother. Last evening Alexander showed up at the house and was met by A. H. Jones, and making a suspicious move, was shot dead on the doorsten. He was a desperate character, having killed four men and caused the suicide of a young woman he had wronged.

ATTEMPTED ASSAULT.

Pottstown, Pa., July 26.—A stranger calling himself Albert Frecht, of Williamsburg, N. Y., enticed Bessie Rhoades, a pretty 16-year-old girl, to take a boat ride with him last night. He then made a desperate attempt to assault her. Her screams brought assistance, and the fellow fled. He will be roughly used if caught by the infuriated farmers who are looking for him.

HALF A MILLION LOSS.

New York, July 26.—The six-story brick building occupied by the New York Biscuit company on Tenth avenue between Fifteenth and Sixteenth streets, was burned this morning. According to the police returns the loss is $500,000.

SUMMER POLITICS.

Never Too Hot for People to Talk.

State Silver League in Session in Denver.

The Republicans of California Holding a Convention in Sacramento.

Denver, Colo., July 26.—The State Silver League of Colorado is in session here to-day for the purpose of determining what course that organization shall pursue in the coming state and national campaign.

The subject was brought up at the meeting of the league held in April, but it was then decided to defer action until after the conventions had been held, and the platforms of the different parties drawn up.

The action of the republican and democratic conventions in declaring against free coinage has had the effect of, to a great extent, wiping out the old party lines, and the present gathering will issue a summons to all voters who favor the restoration of the white metal to join the ranks of the people's party.

The convention is made up of one delegate at large from each silver club in the state, and one additional delegate for each fifty members, or fraction thereof, above twenty-five.

Gen. Weaver arrived in this city this morning from St. Louis, where he has been spending a few days at the national headquarters of his party. Gen. Weaver is accompanied by his running mate, Gen. J. G. Field, and addresses will be delivered by both of them before the evening session of the convention.

This will be the inauguration of the people's party campaign in the far west, and from now on the work will be kept up vigorously, Gens. Weaver and Field starting for Pueblo to-morrow morning, and thence to Leadville and Aspen, at all of which places public meetings will be held.

They will then spend two days in Nevada, three in California, and after a trip through Oregon, will attend a big mass meeting in Portland. They will proceed from there to Tacoma, thence to Seattle, and on to Spokane Falls, winding up at Helena, Mont. From this point a platform campaign will be carried through the north to St. Paul, returning to Des Moines August 16.

CALIFORNIA

Republicans Preparing for the State Convention.

Sacramento, Cal., July 26.—The republicans of California met in convention this morning for the purpose of nominating presidential electors and congressmen at large.

The campaign has been rather tame, and the congressional fight is as yet open to all. The convention adjourned for the day after appointing committees on credentials and resolutions.

It is generally thought that the nominations will be agreed upon in caucus this evening, and that there will be no contest at to-morrow's session.

HUGH J. FAY NOT DEAD.

Stamford, Conn., July 26.—The friends of Hugh J. Fay, the comedian, are rejoicing at the news that his reported death, ten days ago, has no foundation in fact. Cablegrams from both the actor and his bride to friends in this city state that he is very much alive in Liverpool.

SHE'S A LAWYER.

Paris, July 26.—Mlle. Jean Cauvin will in a few days receive the degree of Doctor of Laws from the official examiners of the government, and this degree will bestow upon her the right to practice in any of the courts of the country.

FATAL SHOOTING.

Wheeling, W. Va., July 26.—Michael Madlan, 16 years old, shot and instantly killed Samuel Winesburg during a family quarrel last night. He also shot Mrs. Winesburg, inflicting fatal injuries. Madlan and his father, who also took part in the row, have been arrested.

FIFTEEN CENTS

Fixed by the Aldermen for Natural Gas

From the Northwestern Company—Gas Vote Stands Seven to Two—Paragon Ordinance—Some Matters Went Over.

The board of aldermen took a turn at the gas ordinance last night, and after cutting the price 15 cents per thousand feet it passed.

Alderman Hartford moved to amend the sections involving the time and price, by extending the contract to June 1, 1896, and fixing the rate at 15 cents instead of 20 cents. This was seconded by Mr. Peiter.

Mr. Leroux moved to amend the amendment by fixing the price at 18 cents, which, however, received no second, and Mr. Hartford's motion prevailed by the following vote:

Ayes—Graham, Hall, Hartford, Peiter, Huberich, Hassenzahl, Wolfman—7.

Nays—Leroux, Hodge—2.

Mr. Hassenzahl moved that a clause be inserted in the ordinance to the effect that a sum not exceeding $1.50 be charged for each meter, and it was inserted.

It is not probable that the Northwestern will accept the contract at 15 cents.

Resolutions to turnpike Boyd street between South street and Prouty avenue, and for the establishment of an electric light at the crossing of the C., H. & D. railroad and Oak street, East Toledo, were referred to the appropriate committees.

The Paragon pipe line ordinance was considered, and the action of the board of councilmen concurred in.

Ordinances for opening Islington street, the plat of Harrison addition and to improve Division street went over for lack of the necessary vote.

ON A BUSINESS BASIS

The Democratic Campaign Will be a Hummer.

Line of Action Mapped Out by the Committee.

The Fight Will Open August First, and Will be Waged for Lower Taxes All Along the Line.

New York, July 26.—The Herald publishes an interview with Wm. F. Harrity, chairman of the democratic national committee, in which he says:

"You can say that the national headquarters will be opened by August 1. The building will be secured this week. What house we will have I cannot say now. I don't think we will be located very far from the Fifth Avenue hotel and the Hoffman house. Still, there is no special desire to have the headquarters near the hotel, because if we are far away we are likely to have fewer visitors, and they are not likely to stay so long."

From a source almost as authoritative as Chairman Harrity himself, the Herald is able to give both parties a piece of news which they have eagerly awaited. It relates to the way in which the democratic campaign will be conducted by the national committee and three committees subordinate to it. There is to be an executive committee of 25, a campaign committee of nine and an advisory committee of a number not yet decided upon, but probably of four or five members. People have wondered what the duties of these three committees will be. Here they are, clearly defined:

The executive committee, which is the largest, will continue in existence for the next four years, or as long as the national committee lasts. It will transact all the business of the national committee not connected with this campaign and upon which the national committee as a whole will act. It is also invested with something of a veto power. The action of the campaign committee and of the national chairman in conducting the campaign will be subject to the approval of the executive committee.

The campaign committee, as its name indicates, will have active charge of this campaign, and the members will devote most of their time to the national ticket. Aided by the advisory committee they will determine the policy and plan of campaign and the campaign committee will execute the policy. It will, in all probability, be divided into sub-committees, one of which will have charge of the speechmaking part of the canvass, carefully selecting and assigning the speakers. There will also be a sub-committee on campaign literature. This body will determine the character of the literary material to be prepared, and will have special regard in its distribution, to the convictions, sentiments or prejudices of localities. Farmers' alliance pabulum will be all right for Kansas, but it won't do for Georgia.

The campaign committee as a body will consider all details of organization work outside of speaking and literature. If reports come in of defection in the party they will be looked after. If there are two candidates for congress in a district which is close and might otherwise be carried, members of this committee will take up the question and endeavor to induce one candidate to withdraw. The campaign committee will also look after state organizations and endeavor to bring them into full harmony with the national committee and to supplement and strengthen them in those states which democrats are determined to carry.

The advisory committee was created for the purpose of getting the services of men of experience in politics. There are few leading men who are not members of national committees, but whose advice and assistance are desired. They are expected to assist in supplying what the democrats call "fat" in speaking of the republicans, and "sinews of war" in speaking of themselves, and will be in constant communication with Chairman Harrity.

A HINT TO ADVERTISERS.

The principles of evolution penetrate to all branches of society. Recently I was talking with a Chicago merchant on the subject of advertising and he expressed some views on this topic that have an interest to newspaper readers and advertisers. Said he:

"The smart retail merchant of this epoch frames his advertisements in the newspapers to catch the eyes of the women. It is astonishing how much interest the women take in the advertisements, especially in the Sunday newspapers. They look for the announcement of fresh goods and good bargains quite as eagerly as they read the society news or the news matter proper. And if you will study the situation carefully you will notice that on Monday morning there is a rush for the bargain counters that you will find on no other day in the week.

"All this is the result of the evolution that is quietly, but surely, going on among the gentler sex. Women are greater newspaper readers than ever before, and the well arranged display advertisement catches their eye because they are also thorough newspaper readers. The average business man is a skimmer over the news unless he is interested in some special department of the paper to which he gives careful attention, but if he is not interested in some feature, you may be sure that he only glances over it. On the contrary, the woman first concentrates her attention on that phase which is most attractive to her, and if she reads anything in the way of new goods or new bargains in any line of domestic economy, she is sure to make a note of it in her mind, and generally does not fail to improve her opportunity."

These observations go far toward establishing the truth of the dealer's assertion that the wise merchant in these times will not fail to attract the eye of the feminine sex.—Chicago Post.

DISAPPOINTED IN CLEVELAND.

An Illinois democrat, who forbids us the use of his name, has just returned from Buzzard's Bay, whither he hastened after the national democratic convention to confer with Mr. Cleveland upon matters of moment.

"I was full of enthusiasm," says he, "but I had it all taken out of me. That man Cleveland is the most provoking customer I ever got hold of."

"Wasn't he polite to you?"

"Oh, yes, polite enough."

"Well, then what was the matter?"

"Well, you see, I went down there a roaring Stevenson man and I expected that Grover (as the boys call him) would sympathize with me. Sympathize? Why, he didn't sympathize worth a cent!"

"What did he say?"

"He didn't say anything, and it was the way in which he said it that knocked me out. I beat all around the bush, and worked the thing up artistically to the point I wanted to reach. 'Now, Mr. Cleveland,' said I, 'don't you agree with me that the nomination of Stevenson gives strength to the ticket in Illinois?' He didn't answer for a moment or two; he looked toward the sea, and his eyes were bent reflectively upon the billowy expanse. Finally he turned round and looked me earnestly in the face. 'My friend,' says he, 'a more important question than that is engrossing my mind just now.' 'What can it be?' I asked. 'I am wondering,' says he, seriously, 'whether the bluefish will bite to-morrow.'"—Chicago News-Record.

AMERICAN PORCUPINES.

They Abound in Pennsylvania and Lunch on Empty Barrels.

There are probably more hedgehogs, or porcupines, as many of the natives call them, in the lumber woods of Northwestern Pennsylvania than anywhere else in the east, says the Philadelphia Press. They are curious creatures, these hemlock wood porcupines, and a great pest around lumber camps.

They are passionately fond of salt and if the four sides of a lumber camp shanty should be salted from ground to roof, the porcupines would eat down over the very heads of the inmates, and not leave a splinter of it to mar when it stood. They don't mind a man or twenty men, if there is a salt barrel in camp, and they will persist in getting into as long as one of them is left alive. The other night a drove of porcupines made a raid on an old lumber shanty west of this place, in the McKean county woods. The shanty was occupied by two bark peelers. The porcupines came from all directions, and made their way into the shanty, waking the men by tramping over them, and keeping them awake a long time afterward by their determination to take possession of the place.

With their axes the bark peelers fought the bold and persistent little animals, and it was not until they had killed the whole drove, 30 in number, that they were able to go to bed again in peace.

The next night the shanty was attacked again by a detachment of porcupines, apparently as large as the first one. The occupants had closed up the apertures through which the day of the night before had gained entrance, and the second lot, finding no place to get in, promptly set to work to gnaw their place through the boards. In a wonderfully short time three different entrances were made by the sharp-toothed and industrious animals, and the two bark peelers found themselves under the necessity of either spending the night fighting porcupines again or surrendering the shanty the invaders. The men concluded to wait and see what the animals would do.

They ignored the presence of the bark peelers entirely, and rambled to a corner of the shanty where an empty pork barrel stood, a relic of some previous occupancy of the premises. The porcupines attacked the barrel, and in less than an hour had eaten it up, staves, hoops and all. They then chewed up a lot of boards near the barrel, on which beer had been spilled, and departed as they had entered, except that they carried away with them a pretty good load of beer on which they had lunched.

"You don't have to furnish round much to get feed to fatten any of these hemlock porcupines on," says old Potter county woodman. "Just sprinkle some salt over a stick of cord-wood or a sawlog, for that matter, and let the whole business and enjoy it till you would mince pie."

The customary diet of these animals, though, is hemlock wise. They make themselves a home in a hollow log, or under the roots of an old tree, but always in reach of a hemlock. The hemlock is their pasture, and they make beaten paths going to and fro between the tree and their shop. The porcupine climbs the tree as deftly as a squirrel would, provided you don't slip up and cut his tail off while he is going up. Somehow or other he can climb the tree without his tail, nor he not come down without it. If you confine one of these porcupines climbing a tree I chop off his tail close, he will stop right where he is, and will stay there until starves to death, unless he is taken away. Once up the tree the porcupine goes out on the big limbs, and pulling them all branches in with one paw, brow on the pungent leaves. In going through the woods you will find little piles of these fine leaves on the ground under hock trees. That means that a porcupine is feeding in the tree, the leaves one ground being dropped from his feet. Sometimes a porcupine will remain a hemlock tree a week at a time, hugging close to the trunk at night, and feeding during the day. This curious little beast the only known living thing that eats the foliage of the hemlock.

Notice to Surveyors

To the Auditor of Lucas County, O.:

Dear Sir—In accordance with resolution of county commissioners February 24, '91, the undersigned observations to ascertain the declination the magnetic meridian and respectfully furnishes the following:

Six readings were taken each of the verniers "A" and "B" to north and south ends of the established meridian line, the average of which gives a declination of the needle from the true meridian of 29 minutes seconds west of north.

Instrument used was Kinman Transit, No. 914. I hereby certify the foregoing is a correct report of observations of the declination of the magnetic from true meridian. Respectfully submitted.

H. WILHELM,

ANARCHY IS NOT DEAD

It Continues to Thrive in This Country.

Arrest of the Leaders of a Group in Pittsburg.

New York and Chicago Seem to be the Headquarters From Which They Concot Their Murderous Plots.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 26.—Anarchy in the United States is not dead.

It is not even sleeping.

Its high priests are just as wide awake, just as venomous, their ramifications just as extensive and perhaps more so than they have ever been.

The lesson and warning afforded to the element by the execution of Spies, Parsons and their associates, and by the repeated prosecutions and convictions of Herr Johan Most, have failed even to bruise the head of the transplanted monster.

Anarchy is as much a thing of life as ever.

So much has been evidenced by the attempt upon the life of Mr. Frick and the subsequent developments that have come to the surface. The police are naturally jubliant over the arrest of Carl Knold, and believe they are now on the way toward the fountainhead of the conspiracy that culminated in the tragedy of Saturday.

For some time past the socialistic and anarchistic elements of Allegheny have been keeping under cover and the authorities had flattered themselves that their vigilance of the past two years had been rewarded and that the element had lost its desire for mischief.

They have, however, been deceived, for the search of Knold's residence last evening, proved conclusively that the circle or section or whatever it may be called, had been continuously engaged in active propaganda and intimately associated with other opponents of free government and liberty-loving institutions in different parts of the United States.

In the room were found stale varieties of anarchistic literature and correspondence, indicating that anarchy has abiding places either in the persons of groups, or individuals, in New York, Chicago, Denver and other points.

A large number of ciphers and cipher communications which were brought to light, indicated the existence of a general and secret mode of communication.

One of these ciphers, enclosed in an envelope, bearing a New York date, appeared to be based upon the Hebrew alphabet. This appeared to dovetail in with a second that appeared to be simply a combination of unintelligible scrawls, and this by figures on its back was apparently a key to a third, in the form of an ingenious geometrical chart, with numerous curves, each different from the other.

A linen railroad map of the United States, had upon it three marks intended to indicate air lines between New York and Chicago and these were marked at intervals with figures which related to cipher words on the back.

So extensive was the supply of anarchist literature found in the place as to indicate that it must have been used as headquarters for the distribution of this dangerous stuff through the country.

There were numerous copies of "Freedom," a rabidly anarchistic sheet, emanating from Chicago and edited by Lucy Parsons, the dusky relict of the executed local anarchist telling Mrs. Parsons that her paper, as truly advocates and defends the principles of revolutionary communistic anarchism as did the Alarm, edited by her husband.

There was also a bundle of another Chicago anarchistic sheet named Gasaleft, printed on deep red paper and of Most's Freiheit. Some had black and others red borders. Of various communication in German and written from widely separated places, there was enough to fill a small satchel, while as a finale, the police came across a racket of tickets for a raffle of a fine relief picture of the five martyrs of the working class, Spies, Parsons, Lingg, Engel, and Fischer, the proceeds to go "for the benefit of the English agitation" and the raffle to be held next month.

Knold is still held at the central station and an information of some kind will be made against him to-day, in order to insure his detention. The police are in consultation with the law officials of the county this morning. He will probably be charged with conspiracy and with being particeps criminis to the shooting.

He is very unlikely to secure bail, for his employers, who had no knowledge of his anarchistic temperament, have declined to stand by him, and the combined available capital of the anarchist colony of Allegheny will probably not reach a fiftieth part of the amount that may be demanded for his appearance.

All the available detectives of the city are engaged in a search for the satchel carried by Berkman when he reached the city, as it is thought it may contain documents or other matter which will afford additional clues to the conspiracy.

It is not at the hotel nor at the Union station, and the police think he may have left it in some saloon. It is of the telescope variety and grayish in color.

Berkman is beginning to chafe under the strict regime and frugal fare at the jail, and he is more ugly and morose in his disposition than ever.

He denies that he is acquainted with Knold, or stopped at his house, and when confronted with a man who saw him in the place, he persisted in his denial, with considerable volubility and a dangerous gleam in his eye.

At the Central police station at noon the officials stated to the United Press that they regard the arrest of Bauer as the most important since the shooting. He is a professional agitator, drawing his support from the anarchist groups, and devotes his time to the distribution of the revolutionary literature received from Chicago. He lives with a shoemaker at 73 Spring Garden street, Allegheny, where he was captured.

On Sunday he was seen entering Knold's house with a parcel. He has been positively identified as a man who was with Berkman in the corridor of the Carnegie company's building on Saturday just before the shooting, and handed Berkman a small parkage, just as he entered the elevator. This package is supposed to be either the revolver or the cartridges, afterwards found in Berkman's pocket.

This development has so far been kept secret by the police, although it is admitted that the second man was seen in company with Berkman on the street. A man named Paul Eckert, who occupied a portion of Knold's house, was for a short time under the suspicion of the police, but his statements being satisfactory he was not detained.

HERR MOST IMPLICATED.

Such is the Belief of Police Officers in Pittsburg.

Pittsburg, July 26.—The chief of public saftey, Murphy, of Allegheny, says that a warrant is out for the arrest of Herr Most, and it is believed in police circles that the plot to kill Frick originated in New York.

Pittsburg, July 26—11:50—Five police officers arrested, in Allegheny, Henry Bauer, the head center of the anarchists of this section.

Pittsburg, July 26.—The police department has just received a dispatch from Supt. O'Mara at Long Branch, saying that at 4 o'clock this morning he effected the arrest of the German baker, Monck, who sent the express package, containing money that were received by Berkman in this city last week.

Ore Market storng at Cleveland—Vessel Passages.

Cleveland, July 26.—There is no truth in the report of $1.20 being paid yesterday from Ashland to Ohio ports. Shippers having ore to come from the head of Lake Superior have had about as much tonnage as the required during the past few days and although Escanaba dealers have not been so fortunate, some of them have found relief in shipping through Marquette at $1. The market is strong but unchanged.

Owing to the extreme heat the democratic meeting called at Memorial hall last evening was postponed.

There were about 200 people in the hall when Mr. Hurd entered. He was greeted with a round of applause.

Proceeding to the platform he announced that owing to the extreme heat of the evening the proposed meeting would be postponed until next Monday evening when, he hoped, the weather would have moderated.

Some suggested an out-door meeting, but it was too hot even outside, and every one agreed that a postponement was the correct thing.

MRS. H. E. RICHARDS,

Of Toledo, Injured on Her Wheel in Cincinnati.

A number of the Toledo cyclers were the guests of Cincinnati wheelmen Sunday. The Cincinnati Times-Star speaks of the visit as follows:

The Toledo ladies and gentlemen are the guests of the Porkopolis wheelmen, who entertained them in a royal manner and in a way in which they will never forget. The company assembled at the club house about 9 a. m., and they were taken about the suburbs. Dinner was had on East Walnut Hills. After dinner an adjournment was made to Eden park, where Bellstedt's orchestra discoursed some very fine music. The solo, "Nearer, My God, to Thee," by Bellstedt, was loudly applauded. There was one very sad incident, however, which happened at the park to mar the pleasant visit of the Toledo wheelmen.

Bellstedt played his solo; the wheelmen started for the Palace hotel, as they had to hurry home to make a train. In the meantime Bellstedt received an encore, and the wheelmen, not paying attention to it, quietly and gentlemanly wound their way around the main entrance of the park. They had just emerged from the line of carriages, when a burly park policeman seized Mrs. H. E. Richards, of Toledo, and threw her from her wheel, injuring her foot in the fall. A number of the wheelmen were at her side in an instant, and a lively scene would have taken place had the gray-suited coward been caught, but he made a hasty exit. On inquiry it was found that the park employed six policemen, and on questioning each one nothing could be gleaned about the assault. The matter will be brought before the park commissioners. The Toledo club was very highly incensed at the treatment of the lady.

The colored people of the city gave an excursion to Put-in-Bay yesterday on the steamer City of Toledo. It was one of the largest benefit excursions that has gone out of Toledo this season and a highly enjoyable affair.

A party consisting of Mrs. G. A. Kirchmaeier, Mrs. W. W. Betts and daughter, Mollie, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Parks, Miss Mabel Scrafford and Mrs. E. S. Wiswall, daughter Kate and two sons, Edward and John, of Troy, N. Y., spent yesterday in Detroit.

The following Toledo people left for Mackinac this morning on the steamer Flora: Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Gillespie, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. White, Mr. W. E. Benton, Mr. H. Saunders, J. L. Hendricks, J. L. Dickinson, Mr. Kennedy and son and many others. There were also eight or ten passengers for Port Huron and Petosky.

Miss Emma La Fevre, of 3119 Lagrange street, was pleasantly surprised last evening in honor of her birthday. Dancing and refreshments made the occasion a pleasant one. Miss La Fevre was the recipient of numerous beautiful presents. Among the guests were the Misses Edith Wolf, Mamie Leary, Lizzie Leary, Lizzie Tollman, Clara Tollman, Gussie Cray, Susie Zahnle, Nellie Blanchard, Louisa DeShettler and Eva Peters, and Messrs. A. Beck, Fred Strobel, Albert Neal, J. Keller, F. Tucker, Mart Moreski, L. S. Shipperd, George Gilsdorf, J. Cousino and J. Gartner. The Star Serenading club furnished the music.

Don't forget the big horse sale at Oak Ridge Stock Farm to-morrow.

Trains leave Toledo for Blissfield at 7:45 and 9:50 a. m. Come early. Conveyances at depot.

HERE, DEMOCRATS.

Caucus Must be Held in Seventh Ward To-Night.

Notice Filed on the Ward Committeeman by Secretary King, of the Board of Elections.

Democrats of the Seventh ward must meet in caucus to-night to nominate a councilman to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. Swain.

This notice was served on the committeemen of the democratic and republican parties this afternoon by Secretary King, of the board of elections.

In accordance with this instruction, Mr. George A. Jackson, the committeeman, has called a caucus of democrats of the ward this evening at 8 o'clock, at Louis Young's store, corner Cherry and Bancroft streets.

This information is rather short, but the nomination must be certified to under the law not less than ten days prior to the election.

Democrats seeing this call should invite their neighbors, and circulate the fact of the caucus.

Republicans of the ward will also meet to-night at the wigwam.

A large number of houses and stores were entered and hauls of more or less extent made

Depew on Cleveland.

We advise any of our contemporaries, who want to say especially nice things about Mr. Cleveland, to quote the following from an after-dinner speech made by Mr. Depew at the dinner given in honor of Judge Pryor at the Astor house in New York, October 9, 1890:

If I am to name the typical American, the man who loves and believes in his country beyond everything else; the man who, determining once in what direction his duty leads, can not be swerved from the path; the man who is doggedly persistent in what he believes to be right; the man who thinks not of self, but of his country and its needs, I would name Grover Cleveland. What he accomplished is the very highest tribute to the possibilities of American citizenship. A country lawyer in the city of Buffalo, he shed luster upon the high profession which he had chosen. As the Mayor of his native city he presented as his record a clean and economical administration. Coming into the highest position in the land without previous experience and with scarcely a precedent to guide him in the conditions which surrounded him, he won the affection of his party and commanded the respect and admiration of his opponents. I find myself in one of the proudest positions of my life in being permitted to present to you Grover Cleveland as the typical American.

Pretty good send-off from the leader of the Harrison forces in the present campaign. Pretty good qualifications for a president.

McClure and McKinley.

A joint debate on the tariff question, by Col. McClure and Gov. McKinley, will be well worth listening to and reading. It is hopeful the committees to which the matter has been referred will make the arrangement. Gov. McKinley's strength of speech lies in his honest-sounding declarations clothed in the most striking language of which he is capable. He is utterly illogical and unreliable in in his statements. He can hold a crowd of admirers well, with a certain kind of eloquence that he rolls off, and unthinking persons may imagine him great in argument. To be obliged to confine himself to cold and proven facts, in the face of an opponent who is skilled in logic and educated in the ground principles of the subject, will be a different kind of intellectual exercise. The supposition is, that, acting in accordance with Gov. McKiley's sentiments when he requested that the matter be referred, the committeemen will please him by finding reasons why it is not advisable for the debate to take place.

Size 'Em Up New Yorkers.

The Recorder says, anent the sinking of Mr. Wm. K. Vanderbilt's yacht: "When the yacht ran down a rowboat, a little time ago, two lives were lost; in the accident, yesterday, all on board were saved, yet so callous have we grown with regard to loss of human life that the sinking of the Alva will be regarded generally as a matter far more serious than the fatality which followed the sinking of the rowboat." That may be New York sentiment, but "out west" we are not such worshipers at the shrine of Mammon and Vanderbilt. The average New York editor shows shocking provincialism. He voices Manhattan island sentiment and imagines he speaks for the whole country.

It being an indisputable fact that the consumers of natural gas located on the Northwestern line are well satisfied with the twenty-cent rate, it is evident that the majority of the aldermen do not represent public sentiment when they reject the twenty-cent ordinance. There is no getting away from the fact. The twenty-cent rate is undoubtedly here to remain, and it would be the display of wisdom and financial capacity for the natural gas trustees to make a like advance. It would be in the interest of the tax payers to do so. The aldermen force the conflict. This should be understood.

The rumored resignation of Senator Hill doesn't gain much credence, although the reasons given for belief in it are very good ones. It is said that, believing in Cleveland's election, he feels he would have no influence, and in the event of Harrison, certainly none. In his present position there is no opportunity for a display of his executive ability and he is restive as a nonentity. If there is no politics in it, state or national, for him, there is nothing to keep him in the poky old harness.

Senator Sherman seems to have unlimited confidence in laws of abolishment. To abolish a thing in legislation, puts a man on record, don't you know. Mr. Sherman is father of a law abolishing trusts, and trusts have fattened under its brooding shadow. Now he is agitating a bill "to abolish war," all over the world, with one fell stroke by the United States senate under his leadership. Mr. Sherman has lots of fun, but he doesn't fool people so much as he thinks he does.

The New York World is doing good educational service in the publication of a series of monthly supplements on the tariff question that present facts and logical conclusions which any man is invited to controvert and disprove if he can. In the June issue, the history of one hundred trusts, each and every one of which is under the wing of the tariff, is given. Voters who are seeking, honestly, to educate themselves should take advantage of these one-cent supplements.

Joseph Cook is a mouth piece of his party. He says the chief issue in the presidential campaign is the federal elections bill, commonly called and properly known as the force bill. The New York Mail and Express, the administration organ of the metropolis, declares that the president virtually pledged to the passage of the bill, is the inspiration of republican enthusiasm for the campaign. And yet poor, old Dana gets scored every time he mentions it.

The weather was so insufferably warm last night that Hon. Frank H. Hurd wisely postponed his meeting one week. There was a fair audience in Memorial Hall but, for the reason given, all were glad of the postponement. Mr. Hurd has given much thought to the preparation of this speech, the subject, "Protection and Wages," being of absorbing interest to every wage earner. Memorial Hall should be crowded to its utmost capacity next Monday night.

It may not be generally known that Andrew Carnegie, born in Scotland, has never been naturalized and is not an American citizen. He has controlled a good many votes, but has never cast one. He is here for revenue only, and probably meant just what he said when he told the English diners who had been taking wine with him, that "only in America were the people such fools as to maintain a high tariff tax."

The Roman Catholic church is dead set against cremation. And yet in spite of its opposition the custom is growing in favor in France, Germany and Italy. During the year 1891, 3,741 bodies were burned in France. Three new crematories were opened in Germany, and there are now 22 in Italy, several of which are perambulatory.

Women Temperance Unionists are wondering, if the pretty doctrine of state rights taught them by legislators at Washington be really correct and constitutional, why is the senate meddling with cigarette smoking? Isn't that a state affair, same as the regulation of intoxicants?

Chicagoans know the 'Capt. Nordrum" who was sent to Homestead in charge of the Pinkerton guards and the papers of that city without exception, take no stock in the innocent and pious defense offered by the chiefs of the detectives.

The Washington Post is disgusted with what it calls "Cal. Shepard's bray," about Stevenson's war record, and asks him to name the battles in which he (Shepard) "fit."

The president is just paying court to the old Keystone state; he has appointed a Philadelphian, consul to Birmingham.

Good words for Shiras, jr., those of Senator Cameron against his confirmation.

WILL CAST FIRST VOTE

For Cleveland and Against So-Called Protection.

A Republican Ex-Toledoan Writes to One of His Friends, Giving Reasons Why He Will Have Nothing to do With the Present Regime.

The Bee gives space for the following letter written by a Toledo young man, now living in Kansas City, to a republican friend in Toledo. He puts his facts so tersely that its reading will be interesting as showing how the wind is blowing. The letter has enough local mention to give it further interest:

"How does the democratic ticket suit you? There is a general feeling here that it will sweep the country, north, south, east and west. Because among other reasons the American people admire Mr. Cleveland's candor, his honesty, his freedom from hypocrisy, while the party proper believe in his wisdom and his democracy.

"It has been written that our people as a nation are tending towards hypocrisy—note the Sunday closing measure in the United States senate.

"There is general belief that Cleveland stands for opposite of all this. As against shrivling hypocrisy and temporising political trickery, he stands for political honesty and the fulfillment of party pledges.

"In my opinion there is no power on earth to prevent the election of Cleveland and Stevenson. Then good by to Harrison, Homestead and Humbug.

"I find out here the republicans, as well as the democrats, are opposed to a protection which only protects wealthy manufacturing syndicates; a policy which, no matter how much they deny it, enriches the few at the expense of the many. At the coming election I shall have the honor to cast my first vote, and I propose to cast for the man who considers a public office a public trust; the man who can say no!; the man who said unnecessary taxation is unjust taxation.

"You have in Toledo, as everybody acquainted with the facts knows, a fair exposition of what the republican party has been, and what it now is, and with that exposition thinking, decent republicans are greatly dissatisfied.

"From leaders, honest and patriotic in their purpose, the republican party in Toledo is being ridden to death by political mendicants, and in some cases men who should be doing time at Columbus. The same condition politically obtains here, and it is so the country over. The reason is that a party long in power becomes drunken and debauched until the interests of the common people are entirely ignored. McKinley, for instance. Look at him! Drunk to the verge of jim-jams with party flattery (a good, natured fellow, too) he calmly passes as a friend to the American people, to the artisan. He smiles at his work! Even when he sees children strangled in the streets—the offspring of workmen, who cannot furnish the bread.

"It is protection run mad, a fetich, a remorseless idol to be worshiped. Mr. McKinley becomes the sacred ibis of the republicans.

"Every good quality runs into a defect. The generous are not far from the prodigal. Economy borders on avarice; and so with the high protection doctrine, from a tariff for beneficent purposes it goes to the other extreme and devours the substance of the people."

AN OLD TIME TOLEDOAN

J. Austin Scott Passes Away at Ann Arbor.

He Was a Prominent Man In Many Ways During the Early Days of Toledo and Lucas County.

J. Austin Scott, who for many years was an influential citizen of Toledo, died at Ann Arbor yesterday, at the age of 86 years.

He was the son of Jeremiah Scott, and a grandson of David Scott, of Revolutionary fame. He was born at Richfield, Conn. He settled in Perrysburg during the year 1834, and there purchased and edited the Miami of the Lakes.

Mr. Scott organized the first agricultural society in Lucas county, and held the offices of president and vice-president at different times.

He was a councilman in Toledo for 18 consecutive years, and for 12 terms was president of the board. For some 20 years he was a member of the board of education, and was also president of the State Pomological Society and the Maumee Horticultural Society. Mr. Scott was interested in many of Toledo's early enterprises.

Mrs. Scott died some five years ago.

Four children are living: F. A. Scott, president of Rutger's college, New Brunswick, N. J., Evart H. Scott and Henry Scott, of Ann Arbor, and Mrs. Chas. Carter, of Honolulu, Sandwich Islands.

DYING LIKE SHEEP

The Hot Wave is Too Much for the Weak,

And Children Give Up Life's Battle by Scores.

Fifty-One Deaths in St. Louis in One Day.

Reports From All Sections of the Country.

Old Sol Smiles While Humanity Dodges His Burning Rays and Seeks Shelter in Shady Places.

St. Louis, July 26.—St. Louis was like a huge furnace yesterday. The direct effect of this heat was a partial paralysis of trade and a death list of 51, the largest in many years.

Of this number about 40 were children ranging in age from 5 years and under. Almost without exception these 40 babies died from the excessive heat. There were a couple of score of heat prostrations on the streets yesterday and the patrol wagons were rushing to and from the hospitals from noon until last evening. Of 15 cases of sunstroke reported since Sunday night three have died and six are dying. The dead are: John Duc Baptiste, an iron molder; Joseph Fretzer, waiter; Ernest Kline, baker.

The six persons now at the point of death are as follows:

Fred Bennett, 60, Clayton, Mo.; James Bowman, laborer; Fred Mahler, teamster; John Pilgens, C. Smide, laborers; E. Wolf, molder.

The other victims now in a dangerous condition who have been identified are: George Hoffman, ice dealer; John Lewis, Sarah O'Brien, aged 70; August Tegens, George Thomas, a colored cabin boy. Strangely the majority of the cases of genuine sunstroke did not occur until 4 p. m. or later, though prostrations were plenty enough earlier in the day.

The Two Extremes.

Memphis, Tenn., July 26.—The continued heavy rains, lasting over two weeks, which terminated ten days ago, followed by a drought and exceedingly hot weather, have seriously damaged the cotton crop in this section, and unless there is rain within the next week a great deal of the product will be rendered almost worthless.

Houses Blown Away.

Algona, Ia., July 26.—A terrific hail and wind storm swept through the northern part of this county yesterday, ruining all crops and doing much damage to buildings.

At Elmore, Minn., houses were blown down and railroad cars thrown from the track. One man was killed in Elmore by lightning.

At Ledyard several buildings were demolished. The storm is also reported to have struck Forest City. The amount of damage done cannot be estimated at this writing.

Died from the Heat.

Rock Island, Ill., July 26.—During the last two days the hottest weather of the season has been experienced, the temperature ranging from 93 to 95. There has been a number of prostrations and one death, a man named William Beihle succumbing yesterday.

At Springfield, Martin Murphy died from the effects of heat.

At Decatur, William Andrews, a brickmason, was overcome by the heat. He left his work and ran through the streets like a madman, but quickly succumbed and was dead within a half hour.

At Quincy, Andrew Sturm was overcome by the heat and died twenty minutes later.

Died at His Post.

Crawfordsville, Ind., July 26.—Henry Butcher, a young farmer, was overcome yesterday by the heat while pitching wheat at a thresher and lived but a couple of hours. A young man named Scott died at Darlington from being overheated in the harvest field Saturday. Col. Tribby, a prominent citizen, was stricken yesterday and is not likely to recover.

The thermometer registered 101 degrees in the shade.

At Michigan City, T. Shappell, of Detroit drowned in the harbor yesterday. He was drowned in the harbor yesterday. He was overcome by the heat and fell from the deck.

No Air Stirring.

Philadelphia, July 26.—The intense heat continues to-day with hardly a breath of air stirring. At 11 o'clock this morning the mercury stood at 94 1-2 in the shade and 110 in the sun at Seventh and Chestnut streets.

Cooler in Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, July 26.—The weather today is slightly cooler than yesterday. The thermometer at 10 o'clock registered 90 degrees at the top of the goverment building. Seventeen persons were prostrated by heat yesterday, four of whom died. Several others are in a serious condition.

Baltimore Perspires.

Baltimore, July 26.—At 8 o'clock this morning the government bureau stated it was 87 degrees hot. At 9 o'clock the thermometer registered 90; at 10 o'clock 92 and at 11 o'clock 94 was shown. These figures are five degrees in advance of yesterday's record for the same hours and the maximum heat then was 97.

Growing Hotter.

Cleveland, O., July 26.—Sunday and Monday were the two hottest days that have been experienced in Cleveland for many years. The temperature during the past 48 hours has averaged about 90 degrees, except during the storm of Sunday evening, when it fell about 16 degrees in half an hour. Three deaths have been caused by the heat since Sunday morning. To-day promises to be hotter than it was either Sunday or Monday.

90 IN THE SHADE.

Des Moines, Ia., July 26.—The weather continues hot and remains the same as yesterday. The thermometer stands at 90 in the shade with considerable of a breeze stirring.

HEAT BULLETINS.

Other People Are Sueffring as Well as Toledoans.

Albany, N. Y. July 26.—The thermometer at 10 o'clock this morning registered 89 in the shade.

Buffalo, N. Y., July 26.—Weather clear; thermometer 81 degrees.

Rochester, N. Y., July 26.—The maximum temperature in the shade here yesterday was 94 degrees. To-day promises to be very warm and the sky is cloudless.

St. Paul, Minn., July 26.—The heat of the past few days has been succeeded by a cool wave, which reached this locality this morning, being ushered in by a heavy rain accompanied by sharp thunder and lightning. At the local signal service bureau generally cooler weather with showers is reported throughout the northwest.

THEY GOT EVEN.

A Broken Down Street Car Burned by the Passengers.

St. Louis, July 26.—Last night one of the street cars on the turnpike at Belleville, Ill., broke down under the weight of a dozen passengers. The passengers paid their fares and determined to get even with the company. They overturned the car in the ditch, and as the coal oil lamp was burning the car was soon in flames. A crowd of people prevented the employes of the road from extinguishing the fire.

DAUGHERTY IMPROVING.

EXTRAORDINARY.

Street Commissioner Bower in the Pillory.

He Kept a Dead Man on the Pay Roll for Six Months—Mr. Bower in a Deep Hole.

Singular and somewhat sensational was the evidence given by Street Commissioner Bower in the Bower investigation yesterday afternoon and to-day.

Mr. Bower is not only extremely stupid as a witness, but he is intensely stubborn. In his cross-examination by City Solicitor Read this morning he contradicted himself a dozen of times.

Mr Bower testified that he kept James Kelley on the pay roll for six months after Kelly was dead. He explained this peculiar system by saying he employed other men under that name.

In the case of Albert Lentner, whose evidence the Bee published yesterday, Mr. Bower gave some highly interesting testimony. Lentner is the man, it will be remembered, who in his evidence yesterday swore that Bower on Friday evening last asked him to swear that he (Lentner) had worked for Bower two years continuously.

It was believed when Lentner went on the stand that he would so testify. But it seems he weakened and gave the whole snap away. He had worked, he said, for Bower from June 7, 1892. He also worked for him three years ago.

Bower denied that he asked Lentner to swear that he had worked for him (Bower) two years.

During the two years that Lentner's name appears on the books eight or ten men had acted as substitutes for Lentner.

Shortly before Foreman Kirkham, the complainant, was discharged, he (Bower) told Kirkham to drop Kelly and Lentner's names.

"And yet you kept the names on the pay roll?" Mr. Read asked.

"Yes. I kept their time myself."

"Did you sign any checks for Kelly before Kirkham was discharged?"

"No, I did not."

"You did not? Well, now look at this check" (producing check) "of September 5, James Kelly, 10 hours at 27 1-2 cents. Now say who signed that check."

Bower (examining check)—"I did."

"To whom did you give it?"

"I don't know."

"Why did you sign that check?"

"I don't know."

Mr. Bower, if nearly as ignorant as he seem to be on the witness stand, is a poor excuse for a street commissioner.

It transpired that there were two James Kellys and that one worked with what is called the catch basin gang.

Bower testified that he had known Lentner for three or four years. He would allow Lentner to take a better job and then take him back when he wanted to return.

In face of this fact showing the alleged intimacy between the two, the following answers, elicited in the cross-examination by Mr. Read, will be, to say the least, interesting:

"Did you see Lentner at your house last Friday night?"

"I did."

"What did he say?"

"He said he was going to quit."

"What did you say?"

"I said, 'all right.'"

"Did you ask him why he quit?"

"No. Just then my wife said supper was ready and so I went in."

"Did he tell you why he quit?"

"No, he did not."

"What time was it?"

"I couldn't say—about 7 o'clock."

"Now, wasn't it after 8 o'clock?"

"I don't know. I know I didn't have supper."

It transpired during the investigation yesterday afternoon that the Kelly and Lentner's time checks were cashed at "Bismarck's" saloon, opposite the Bee building.

The Buckeye brewery, it was shown, also handled the checks which came to that company through Bismarck, now deceased.

"Why did you tell Kirkham to drop Kelly's and Lentner's names?"

"Well, I wanted to keep their time myself."

"And you did keep their time?"

"I did."

"Where did you keep their time?"

"In a book."

"Have you got the book?"

"I have, but not here."

Well, bring it with you this afternoon, will you?"

"All right."

"Did you keep them before Kirkham left?"

"No."

"How long before Kirkham left did you tell him to drop them?"

"About a couple of weeks."

"Who kept their time between the date of dropping them and Kirkham going away?"

"I kept it."

"Then you must have kept it before Kirkham left."

Mr. Bower was silent.

Mr. Bower got badly mixed. A few minutes later he said he had reported Kelly's and Lentner's time to Yardman, Herman Henning.

The official pay roll for April 2, 1892, was produced. Kelly's name was on it.

"And yet you knew he died in December?"

"Yes, I knew he was dead."

"And why continue him on the books?"

"Well, I had somebody else working in his place."

"Can you tell us the name of the man who worked as Kelly's substitute on this week of April 2nd?"

"No, I cannot."

Mr. Bower's evidence was of a most contradictory nature.

The board adjourned at noon until 2 o'clock.

The investigation is assuming a sensational form.

It transpires this afternoon that James Kelly, to whom Bower referred to as Kelly the second, who received 27 1-2 cents an hour, has not only not been at any time in Bower's employ, but that all his contracts were made directly through the city council.

Asked by Mr. Read how much Kelly received per hour he said:

"Twelve and one-half cents an hour."

"No more and no less?"

"No more and no less."

"Are you sure of that?"

"I am."

The evidence was brought out by the introduction of a time check of James Kelly's above referred to.

Kelly and Lentner have both been summoned again and will go on the stand this afternoon.

City Solicitor Read is prepared to show that Bower has made a number of very important misstatements.

Bower's testimony was not finished at noon and he went on the stand again this afternoon.

That would have kept all pure.

ONE PARK LOCATED.

The Ketcham Tract of 280 Acres

Purchased by the Commissioners for $100,000—A Beautiful Spot in a Beautiful Locality — Improvement Will Begin at Once.

For some months the board of park commissioners have been diligently laboring with one purpose in view—to secure for Toledo a park system which would at once be a joy and delight. In furtherance of this idea many sites have been examined, and when every interest is taken into consideration, and when the full system is announced, it is expected that general satisfaction will be expressed.

Yesterday afternoon, on the return of Mr. J. B. Ketcham from Europe, he attended a meeting of the park board, and the negotiations were closed by which the city passes into the possession of the 280 acres owned by that gentleman, bordering on the city limits, accessible by Bancroft, Monroe and other streets. The consideration finally agreed upon was $100,000, payable in 4 per cent. bonds, running 30 years. Mr. Ketcham's first value on the property was $126,000, but the sale was consummated at the figures named.

The land is naturally located, Ten Mile creek, running through it, and with the groves and clear land makes a beautiful location. The improvements contemplated will add greatly to its beauty and it will be only a short time before it will become very popular for picnics, etc., not to say anything of the happiness afforded in having a place where the general public can gather on any stated occasion.

There will undoubtedly be some comment on account of the distance of the park from the city. It is three and one-quarter miles from the postoffice building. This objection will not be of much value when the location of parks in other cities is considered. Chicago, St. Louis, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Cincinnati, Columbus and other places have their principal parks fully three to seven miles from the business center. Again, the new park is near the Milburn wagon works, the Smead foundry, the Woolson's proposed factories, the bicycle works, and other large manufacturing concerns in the western part of the city, the workmen in which will be glad of the facilities afforded themselves and families for seasons of recreation. The popularity of this feature can readily be determined from the great crowds who visit the lower Summit street river front in the evenings and on Sundays, since it has been cleaned up by the commissioners.

CHASED BY AN ENGINE

A Gang of Tramps Enter Yardmaster Winslow's

House and Are Followed by Railroad Men and Captured—Reddy is One of the Gang.

Shortly after 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon five tramps entered the house of John H. Winslow, yardmaster of the Lake Shore railroad at 108 Ralph street, and ransacked. They found $14 and a gold watch and chain which they appropriated. When they left the house they were seen by Gust Pelton, who, knowing that he could not capture them alone, set out for help.

The tramps hurried down the railroad, and by the time Pelton had gotten seven other railroad men together, the gang had a good start and commenced to breathe easier. The railroad men, however, were out for game, so they took an engine and started after the tramps. After a mile's run they came upon them.

When the tramps saw they were nearly cornered, they struck out over the fields, each in a different direction. The railroad men stuck to the scent, each marking his man and keeping on his trail. After half an hour's chase the five thieves were caught, landed on the engine and brought to the city where they were turned over to Detective O'Brien.

It was a good job on the part of the railroad men, and they are to be complimented.

The leader of the gang of tramps is a young fellow known in the "profesh" as Reddy. He says he has no parents, no home and lives where his hat is.

The detectives pumped him for an hour this morning, but he denied everything point blank. He was one of the five fellows seen to come out of the house. The watch and money has not yet been recovered.

LEFT OUT OF THE FUN.

Tiffin, O., July 26.—(Special.)—Company E, Second regiment, O. N. G., failed to receive orders to join the regiment in camp at Presque Isle yesterday, and are still awaiting orders.

Citizens are indignant over the treatment the company has received after they had been directed to prepare for camp and had expended several hundred dollars in purchasing camp outfit and supplies.

The queen has lent some interesting articles out of the collection at Windsor castle to the exhibition of harness and saddlery at the saddlers' hall. These are the furniture and saddle of Tippo Tahib's war horse, with exquisite ornamentations of gold and silver wire scrollwork and brass. The saddle has a seat of the richest green velvet, with pommel front and back of silver. There are Turkish horse trappings of crimson satin, profusely embroidered with gold, and an Afghan saddle and saddlecloth which once belonged to Yakoob-Khan. The Prince of Wales has sent a Mexican saddle, the pommel being the head of some animal formed of solid silver, of which metal the cantle is also composed. The queen has sent several sets of state harness, including two of purple leather which were used by George IV.

A brilliant young London surgeon has aroused the hostility of the profession by his outspoken denunciation of overdrugging and his advocacy of dietic treatment of disease, and as a result his name was removed from the medical register. He has taken action to have his name restored.

A college professor, says the New York Tribune, recently dropped into a prayer meeting in a district where dairy interests are supreme, and heard a gaunt old dairyman pray as follows: "Help us, O Lord, to follow Thee, no matter what John Mary, Martha, Bill, Tom and all the rest may say. Make us through trains for the Lord, not stopping at every little station where they happen to see a milk can put out. Don't let us fire blank cartridges at the devil, but load up with shot and shell. Help us to cut off the corns and bunions that keep our feet from walking in the way of the Lord."

A BACHELOR'S GROWL AT WOMEN.

Oh, the beautiful women, the women of ancient days,
The ripe and the red, who are done and dead, with never a word of praise;
The rich, round Sallies and Susans, the Pollies, and Joans, and Prues,
Who guarded their fame, and saw no shame in walking in low-heeled shoes.

They never shrieked on a platform; they never desired a vote;
They sat in a row and liked things slow, while they knitted, or patched a coat.
They lived with nothing of Latin, and a jolly slight less of Greek,
And made up their books and changed their cooks on an average once a week.

They never ventured in hansoms, nor climbed to the topmost bus,
Nor talked with a twang in the latest slang; they left these fashions to us.
But, ah! she was sweet and pleasant, though possibly not well read,
The excellent wife who cheered your life and vanished at 10 to bed.

And it's oh! the pity, the pity that time should ever annul
The wearers of skirts who mended shirts and never thought nurseries dull;
For everything's topsy turvy now—the men are bedded at 10,
While the women sit up and smoke and sup in the cup of the Chickless Hen.

The costliest crown in Europe, experts say, is that worn by the czar of Russia on state occasions. It is surmounted by a cross formed of five magnificent diamonds, resting upon an immense uncut, but polished ruby. The ruby rests upon eleven large diamonds, which in turn are supported by a mat of pearls. The coronet of the empress, it is said, contains the most beautiful mass of diamonds ever collected in one band.

The most expensive royal regalias in the world are those of the Maharajah of Baroda, India. First comes a gorgeous collar containing 500 diamonds, arranged in five rows, some as large as walnuts. Top and bottom rows of emeralds of equal size relieve the lustre of the diamonds. A pendant is a single brilliant called the "Star of the Deccan." The Maharajah's special carpet, 10x6 feet, made of pearls, with a big diamond in the center and at each corner, cost $1,500,000.

The French government has under consideration the question of replacing its copper coins, of which 75,000,000 are actually in circulation, by an alloy of nickel and copper, containing 20 per cent. of the former. The resemblance of the coin made from this alloy to the silver coin is urged as an obstacle to its use, but M. Lavat says that no confusion has arisen in the countries using nickel coins. The replacement of the copper coin would necessitate the purchase of 600 tons of pure nickel.

GUNNING FOR RED HEADS.

We heard a shot fired across the street, followed by a rush of men along the board walks, and went over to find a man lying on the floor of a saloon with blood pouring out of a bullet hole in his side, says a writer in the New York Herald. The bartender stood behind the bar with a smoking pistol in his hand, and he was the coolest one in the whole crowd.

"Jim, how did this happen?" demanded the town marshal, who was on hand with the two deputies.

"The usual way—just the usual way, Tom," was the bland reply. "You've known me for two years and you know I never take advantage of anybody.

"That's so. You've always played fair. I wonder who he is?"

"Dunno. He was in here yesterday for the first time."

The marshal went over to the man, propped his head up on an overturned chair, and examined the wound. The stranger's eyes were open and full of intelligence, and as he looked around on the crowd a faint smile passed over his face. He was a typical border man—rough in dress and ugly of visage.

"What's your name, stranger?" asked the marshal.

"Pete Smith."

"Where from?"

"Nevada."

"How about this shooting?"

The man chuckled and smiled as he glanced over at the bartender. Then he quietly said:

"Look at his ha'r—the color of it! I've been huntin' that color fur the last two years. He'd a made my tenth!"

The bartender's hair was red.

"I heard about him a hundred miles away," resumed the stranger, "and I cum here to wipe him out. Hain't nothin' agin him except his ha'r."

"Then you meant to kill him?" asked the marshal.

"Sartin. I'm down on that sort o' ha'r. I wanted to give him a show, though, and so I whooped when I started to draw. Gun got tangled and he got the drop on me. He plugged me plumb center and I'm a goner."

"Does he talk straight?" asked the officer of the man behind the bar.

"Yes. I didn't know that he objected to the color of my hair, but when he whooped I grabbed my gun and dropped him."

"Do you know that you are dying?" asked the marshal, as he turned to the stranger again.

"Sure, but I've told you all you'll even know. Just plant me outside and make no fuss."

"What's this?" said the officer as he moved the man's body so as to uncover his right hand, which grasped his shooter.

"I—I didn't get it out in time for the bartender, and so I was layin' low for somebody else. Is there a red-headed man in the crowd?"

"No," said the marshal, as he looked around.

"If thar was I'd—I'd try a pop at him! Just my luck; take the gun! I wanted to make the number ten, but I've run up agin a barbed-wire fence!"

At that moment a doctor who had been sent for came hustling in. He was a red-headed man. He knelt to examine the wounded man, but the latter waved him off, sat up, and hoarsely shouted:

"This crowd has played me low down! You took my gun away and then rung in a red-headed man on me! Whoop! Whoop!"

He fell back, gave a sort of shiver, and was dead.

AN EXPERIENCE WITH A BURGLAR.

"I had a queer experience with a burglar in a Minneapolis hotel during the republican national convention," said Ferd E. Wadell at the Southern. "When I retired I turned the key, but without having the door quite closed, and, as a result, the bolt did not enter the lock. About 2 o'clock I was awakened by a slight noise. A street light shone into the room, and I could plainly see a man rifling my pockets. I had both watch and purse under my pillow, but was unarmed. I at first thought I would not take chances on getting hurt by molesting the fellow, but when I saw him coolly appropriate a scarf pin that my wife had given me I changed my mind and said to him very quietly, 'I guess you don't need that.' He started toward the door, but a spirit of recklessness had seized me, and I ordered him to stop. Evidently thinking me armed he did so. He stood near an open window and held a small revolver in his hand. I told him to throw it into the street, and he did so. I then made him turn on the light, and he looked surprised and relieved to find that I was not pointing a pistol at him. He was a rather good-looking young fellow, and did not at all resemble a criminal. He admitted that this was not his first offense, however. He was a clerk in a Minneapolis dry goods house, and had got into a way of living which his salary would not support. He sat down on the foot of the bed and talked it all over with me. He was very pale, and his chin quivered a little, but he did not do the baby act. He said he supposed he would get a couple of years at Stillwater, and that he deserved it. I sat up in bed and read him a lecture, then told him to go and sin no more. My words appeared to touch him. He shook my hand, thanked me for my forebearance and left me. I slept with a clear conscience until 8 o'clock, then awoke to find that watch, purse, and diamond scarf-pin were all gone. He had touched me deeper that I did him. I was so mortified that I did not report my loss, but if I ever meet that smooth-faced, penitential young hypocrite there will be a sudden funeral, and either he or I will ride in the hearse."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

WRECK OF THE BALDWIN

How Two Fishing Tugs Picked Up a Schooner.

She Had Been Abandoned and Would Soon Have Sunk.

A Case Very Similar to That of the Famous Bark Board of Trade of Chicago.

Chicago, Ill., July 26.—In the gray dawn of November 12 last two Booth fishing tugs going out from Manistique, Mich., to their nets, sighted the schooner H. P. Baldwin sailing along like a phantom ship. Thinking that the crew were in distress the tugs turned toward the schooner, but when they reached her not a soul was on deck. Men were put aboard and then it was found that the boat had been abandoned. The two tugs took her in tow and started back for Manistique.

When they arrived off that port after an heroic struggle with wind and sea in towing the rapidly sinking boat, they found the captain and crew there on the piers.

The night before these mariners had left their boat to her fate on the broad bosom of Lake Michigan. They seemed intensely surprised when they found that the relict had been picked up. As soon as they could get on board they drove the men from the fish tugs away by main force, and claimed possession themselves.

The boat was finally towed into the protection of Manistique harbor despite the commands of her captain and was saved. A month ago she was towed out of Manistique and is again in commission.

The mystery of her abandonment had been partially cleared up in the evidence taken in the salvage case of the A. Booth Packing company for the services of their boat in picking her up.

This salvage claim was denied by the owners of the Baldwin and suit was instituted in the United States court. It was in his case that United States Commissioner at Marquette heard testimony.

Rumors of the sensational charges made in this evidence reached Chicago Underwriters, who at once became deeply interested, and a verbatim copy was ordered from the shorthand reporter at Marquette. This was received to-day and it has set underwriters to talking.

It has been a long time since a deliberate attempt to lose a boat for insurance was unearthed on the great lakes, and yet it is difficult to find any other key to the testimony.

Capt. Samuel Girvin, of the Booth tug Anderson, gave it as his opinion that the Baldwin would have sunk in three hours more had no effort been made to save her.

Upon their arrival at Manistque, Capt. Girard, who had abandoned the Baldwin, interfered with the efforts that were being made to get the schooner on an easy bottom.

The harbor tug Elmer, which was working on the boat, was ordered to discontinue operations, and obeyed.

Capt. Girard promised to telegraph for a wrecking tug, but instead of doing so ordered the wrecker not to come.

Despite this order the tug Monarch came from Escanaba. Capt. Girvin testified that his crew, whom he had stationed at the pumps of the Baldwin, had been ill-treated and driven away under Capt. Girard's orders.

The sensational point of the testimony was the evidence that Capt. Bartley of the wrecker Monarch gave. He became at once curious as to why the Baldwin had been abandoned so mysteriously, and ordered his foreman, Capt. Arthur Layton, to make an examination of the schooner's hold. The leak was found in a three and one-half inch copper pipe from the closet.

It had been lately cut entirely in two, and through this the water was pouring with tremendous force.

It looked as if the pipe had been cut with a dull axe in the dark, as the marks were not all in the same place. The marks were fresh and bright.

Near by there was a plug of soft pine, but upon it there was not the slightest mark to show that the plug had been used.

Capt. Bartley testified that he subsequently made a personal investigation of the place and found it as Capt. Layton had reported.

He suggested to Capt. Girard that lighters be procured to take off part of the schooner's ore cargo that she might be got over the bar and inside the breakwater, as she was lying in an exposed position and a change of weather might prove disastrous. Capt. Girard replied that he knew his own business and would do what he thought best.

Capt. Bartley, in answer to a question, stated that it was his belief Capt. Girard did not want to save his vessel. When Capt. Bartley insisted upon the necessity of getting the boat into a safe place, Capt. Girard replied: "If you saw the telegram I got you would not do it." He did not state from whom he had the telegram.

"I finally took the vessel inside the breakwater," Capt. Bartley added, "contrary to his orders. Had she remained outside, in 24 hours there would have been no vessel. Capt. Girard interfered again before I got the vessel to the dock and ordered me to take off the pumps, but I paid no attention to him. As nearly as I could understand he was trying to have his boat lost."

Cap. Arthur Layton, foreman of the tug Monarch, fully substantiated Capt. Bartley's testimony.

Capt. Girvin, on being recalled, said that the schooner Baldwin was insured for $13,500. He had this information from Capt. McLeod, agent for the underwriters. The schooner was worth from $12,000 to $14,000 aside from her cargo of 900 tons of ore. He considered the boat as much overloaded.

Considerable testimony before the United States commissioner dwelt upon Capt. Girard's movements after he had abandoned his boat until he arrived in Manistique. This evidence tended to show that he reached the shore at Bark's Point and went directly to Manistique, paying no further attention to his vessel.

This evidence will undoubtedly result in establishing the salvage claim of the A. Booth Fish company, but no indications have been given as to what the underwriters will do. The Baldwin was owned by L. A. & L. J. Smith, of Cleveland. Capt. Girard still commands her, as he did last season.

A METER BILL

Occupies the Attention of the Gas Trustees.

Lengthy Discussion on the Question, Though an Agreement is Finally Reached.

The gas trustees met in regular session. All who are left were present regardless of the sweltering heat.

A representative of the Fuel Gas company, of Pittsburg, was present with a bill on which he wanted a settlement.

It appears that a contract with this firm was entered into during Dr. Tobey's management, the company agreeing to ship the meters, to be paid for when the meters are used or sold, but to be returned when not in use.

Mr. Greene said that Mr. Ketcham came before the committee in person and put a proposition in writing to the effect that meters should be shipped and paid for when in use, the trustees to act as agents, sell the meters and send in the money when collected.

The agent said Mr. Ketcham told him that the agreement referred only to one shipment of meters.

Mr. Greene said the board was ready to pay the amount due, but desired to wind up the business with the firm by shipping back the meters on hand and save the rent on the storage room.

Mr. Rondes made a proposition that the board keep the regulators providing that the company accept what meters have been shipped and could not be used and what meters were on hand.

Mr. Greene stated that the board had no authority to buy the meters or regulators.

The agent wanted the board to pay for what meters had been used, and keep the meters on hand and use them on consignment.

The reason the agent was so persistent in insisting that the board keep the meters was the fear that of the account was closed up and meters on hand returned, competition would circulate the report that their meters were condemned by the board.

Mr. Heston said he found the meters superior to others on high pressure lines. President Greene stated that the quality of the meters did not enter into the question at all, but that the board wanted to settle the matter for good.

After much discussion the following proposition was signed by Manager Heston and the company's agent, to be submitted to the city solicitor before the board passes upon it:

To credit meters already returned in full at prices billed and hold those meters and regulators in stock on consignment as the property of the Fuel Gas and Manufacturing company, to be paid for when sold, and to be used in all cases where they will work satisfactorily, the $2,653.59 balance due for meters already in use to be paid. If any of the meters and regulators above named are returned they shall be credited at the price billed. They shall also be held subject to the order of the Fuel Gas and Manufacturing company.

LEGAL NOTICE.

George W. Thomas and Frank A. Crosby, Plaintiffs.
vs.
The Unknown Heirs and Legal Representatives of James H. Bird, Deceased. Defendants.

The unknown heirs and legal representatives of James H. Bird, deceased, will take notice that on the 20th day of June, 1892, Plaintiffs George W. Thomas and Frank A. Crosby, filed their petition in the court of common pleas in and for Lucas county, Ohio, against them as defendants, alleging that the plaintiffs are the owners of the legal title to, and in the possession of lots eight, nine and ten in Wheeler's Addition to the city of Toledo, Lucas county, Ohio, and that the above named defendants appear of record to have some claim or interest in said premises, which casts a cloud over plaintiffs' title to said lots. But plaintiffs aver that said defendants in fact have no right title or interest of any kind whatsoever in or to said lots, or any part thereof, and asks that said defendants be required to fully set forth their interests, if any in said real estate or be forever afterwards barred therefrom, and further prays that upon the final hearing of said case, they, plaintiffs, may have a decree of said court quieting their title to said lots and wholly excluding said defendants from any and all interest therein.

Said petition will be for hearing on the 26th day of September, 1892, or as soon thereafter as a hearing can be obtained. Said defendants are required to answer said petition on or before August 27th, 1892, or judgment will be taken against them as prayed for in said petition.

Wheat Quotations for the Day—Price Currents for Produce and Other Articles.

The receipts of wheat to-day at Minneapolis and Duluth are 190,552 bu., and at five other western points 780,694 bu, an aggregate of 971,246 bu. On the corresponding Tuesday in 1891 the receipts were 1,341,660 bu., with only 66,269 bu. of northwest wheat.

The export clearances yesterday at four Atlantic ports were 337,180 bu., and flour to an aggregate of 425,000 bu. Exports of corn, 74,297 bu., and of oats, 31,868 bu.

English markets are stronger for wheat and higher for corn.

The Chicago Bulletin says:

"Toledo complains of the poor quality of the winter wheat crop, yet the inspection returns there on Saturday show 132 cars No. 2 red out of 221 cars received. It is not good business policy to decry the quality of this article one may have for sale."

Comment.—The only complaint Toledo has made is to express regret that so much of the crop should miss the highest grade. It is a misfortune to the farmer. The poorer grades come from northern Ohio, Indiana and Illinois.

The wheat and corn markets on this side of the Atlantic have again ruled firmer to-day. The strengthening influences are stronger tone to English wheat markets, and higher prices for corn. Supplemented with the above is the hot weather reports from Kansas and fears of its effect on corn. The price of corn braces wheat in a degree. There is no adverse wheat crop news to-day except what is printed herein from Oregon and Washington. The temperature in the northwest is 60 to 68. Great Scott, but we wish we had it here. The weather here is simply horrid and torrid, and every body, shorts and longs and fence men—all are miserable.

Russian Crops.

We call attention to the official report of Russian crops herein, sent by cable.

Oregon and Washington Crops.

A special press report by telegraph from Portland, Ore., says the crop of Oregon will be 2,800,000 bu and Washington half as much. The loss is attributed to severe weather in the spring and hot weather following.

Toledo Receipts.

We have on track here this morning 344 cars of wheat of which 179 are No. 2.

Liverpool Quotations.

The Liverpool price for American red winter is 6s 9d, which equals 97 1-4c per bushel. The water freight and other expenses are now 16c per bushel. The quotations for corn equals 71 1-4c and the freight and expenses about 15c. If Liverpool dealers want our wheat and corn at our prices we can accommodate them.

As we write the report comes from Washington that the reference of the Hatch bill to the finance committee will be voted on to-day.

The prices of wheat have ruled a little higher to-day, east and west. Opening prices were higher and the markets gained a little more, but it did not hold, and prices of wheat close about where they did yesterday.

Corn has been firm, east and west, but not as active as yesterday, nor has it advanced so much. There is, however, a strong feeling in corn amongst the speculators.

Liverpool is quoted again to-day as closing higher.

In New York, August wheat closed at 84 1-2c, and September at 84 7-8c, a loss of 1-8c. August corn at 56 3-4c, and September at 55 3-4c, a gain of 1-4c. Oats steady.

In Chicago, August wheat closed at 78 1-4c steady. September at 78 1-4c, a gain of 1-8c. August corn at 50 3-4c, and September at 50 3-8c, a gain of 3-8c. Oats steady.

In Toledo the dealings in wheat futures have been light for the season of the year, and in strong contrast with 1891. At opening the market promised well, as prices were 1-2c better, but weakness followed strength, and the advance was lost. Prices slowly declined and closed where they did yesterday. On the call cash wheat sold at 80 3-4c, July at 81c, August at 80 1-2c. After the call July sold at 81c and closed at 80 1-2c bid; August sold at 80 1-2c and closed at 80s bid; September sold at 81 1-8c and closed at 80 1-2c. After 'change September sold at 80 1-2c.

Cash wheat was in good demand with sales of 75,000 bu. No. 2 soft sold at 81c to 80 1-2c and closed at that bid; No. 3 soft on the call sold at 75c, after the call at 75 1-2c cash to 75c. After 'change August sold at 74 1-2c; No. 4 soft at 71 1-2c; smutty at 68 1-2c.

Corn—No. 2, 51c bid; September sold at 51c; No. 3 at 49 1-2c.

Oats—On the call August sold at 31 1-4c to 31c.

Clover seed was much lower to sell. Buyers did not respond, and at close the market was 7 1-2c to 10c lower. It was finally offered at 85 50 for October.

Close in New York.

New York, July 26.—Money on call 1 1-2@2 per cent. Exchange steady; actual rates, $4.87@4.87 1-4 for 60 days and $4.88 1-4@4.88 1-2 for demand. Government bonds, steady; currency at 6s, $1.06 bid; 4s coupon, $1.10 bid; extended 2s registered, $1.00 bid. Stocks continued dull. Only 52,505 shares were sold up to noon.

Wheat opened strong, advancing 1-2c, but re-acted 1-4c by noon. No. 2 red winter, 87 1-4c cash; 85 3-8c July, 85c August, 85 3-8c September.

Corn was irregular, opening 1-2@3-4c higher, re-acting 1-2c. At noon the market was steady; No. 2 mixed, 60c cash; 57c July, 55 7-8c August, 55 1-2c September.

Oats dull but steady; No. 2 mixed, 36 1-4c cash and July; 35 7-8c August, 35 1-2c September.

Rye dull at 73@75c for car lots.

Barley, neglected. Molasses, dull; Cuba, 50 test, 10. Sugar, refined, dull and unchanged. Cut-loaf and crushed, 4 15-16@5 1-8c; powdered, 4 11-16@4 7-8c; granulated, 4 5-16@4 1-2c. Coffee, nominal. There was no braver company of confederate soldiers than the "Helen Johnstone Guards" of Canton, Miss. They fought at Corinth, Perryville, Murfreesboro and at Chickamauga, where their captain, lieutenant and three other officers were slain and their ranks sadly thinned. This valiant troop of soldiers, which formed the crack company of Gen. Walthall's division, was equipped for service by Miss Helen Johnstone, of Annandale, Madison county, Mississippi. She armed and clad them, gave them their flag, and bore all the expense of putting them in the field. Miss Johnstone, now Mrs. Dr. Harris, lives in her historic old home, and is regarded with the deepest affection by the people of the surrounding country. She was a beautiful girl and is a handsome woman, and her estate is one of the finest in Mississippi.

There is no positive rule for determining the horse-power of a boiler. If the boiler is well designed and properly set, two pounds of water should be evaporated for each square foot of heating surface, so that about 15 square feet of heating surface should be allowed in estimating the horse-power. On the other hand, if the boiler or the setting is poorly designed, or the draft imperfect, or the fires badly handled, more than 15 feet may be required.

In China the cobbler goes from house to house, announcing his approach with a rattle and taking up his abode with the family while he accomplishes the necessary making and mending.

Thousands of our customers who are staying in the city now find time to do some light sewing, in which embroideries and laces play a conspicuous part. We want them to know that we have just received a large line of some of the prettiest styles of embroideries and laces.

MARENGO PARK.

The Largest 20 Cents Worth of Comfort and Pleasure to be Found Anywhere on the Maumee.

"Oh! for a lodge in some vast wilderness,
Some boundless contiguity of shade!"

Says the poet, and his dream is almost realized by going seven miles up the picturesque Maumee, where balmy breezes blow and the atmosphere is ever cool, to Marengo. Here nature, in anticipation of the day when a city teeming with an enterprising and hard-working population, should be builded at the entrance to the great internal maritime highways of commerce, had provided a retreat for the tired and worn thousands to which they could resort for rest and recreation; where, reclining upon the grassy slopes under the shade of towering old oaks, listening to the songs of the birds; or wandering through the dim aisles of the old forest with the one of all the dearest, the carking cares of life might be cast to the winds and airy castle building be indulged in without let or hindrance.

But to youth rest is stagnation; the blood courses rapidly through the veins and recreation is only to be found in activities.

Realizing this fact man steps in to supplement nature, and so Marengo Park has been supplied with those adjuncts which civilization has made necessary to the perfect enjoyment of the young.

This park is located on a bluff overlooking the river, of which a fine view is afforded for many miles. Here has been erected a large pavilion fitted with ample seating capacity, and refreshments, solid and liquid, provided in profusion for all desiring them.

The central portion, with a floor space large enough to accommodate easily fifty couples, is laid in hard wood. Here to the inspirating strains of music the gay lads and lassies trip the light fantastic through the misty mazes of the dance to their hearts' content.

For those who do not care to dance, other amusements of many varieties are provided. Boat riding, fishing and hunting claim the attention of others, and the hours glide quickly by in innocent and healthful pleasures.

To sit in lazy restfulness on the deck of the steamer Wellington R. Burt as she dashed the spray from her prow and glided softly on her way, and gaze upon the mossy bluffs that stand like guardian sentinels on the river's banks, and note the varied features of the landscape while listening to the soothing ripple of the water against the hull of the boat as it wound around the graceful curves of the Maumee for a distance of seven miles, was elysium to one, only marred by the reflection that the end must be a return to the tread mill of duty.

Not the least attractive feature of this trip is the music discoursed by Tony Leon's band, than which Toledo has no better.

The denizen of Toledo who fails to make a visit to Marengo Park on the Burt misses the most enjoyable river trip from the city; and he who does make it must be a misanthrope if he fails to enjoy it.

The Burt will easily, comfortably and safely carry 800 persons at a trip. It makes four trips to Marengo Park and Perrysburg daily, leaving the dock at the foot of Jefferson street at 10:00 a. m., and at 2:00, 4:30 and 8:30 p. m.

The crew are gentlemanly and attentive, and the manager, Mr. S. Canfield, leaves nothing undone calculated to insure the safety and comfort of the patrons of the boat.

The person who wants a better thing for 20 cents than a trip on the Burt, will, in our opinion, have to hunt some other planet to find it. When down to the Jefferson street dock, and undecided which boat to board, take the Wellington R. Burt, and you'll be glad of it.

Toledo is a great river town, requiring good boats and pleasant trips to supply her wants, and the Wellington R. Burt fills the bill.

Ladies, we are showing White Silk stockings.

Columbus, O., July 26.—(Special)—No appointments will be made to-day, or for some time to come, of deputy shop inspector for Toledo.

Information is given out that the person who was to be appointed will not receive the commission, neither will any faction secure the same, as State Inspector McDonald will visit Toledo to selecte some person outside of all contestants.

KENSINGTON LOTS

Are Disposed of Like Hot Cakes.

Irving B. Hiett & Co's Sale Yesterday Afternoon—List of the Purchasers and Prizers Winners.

Irving B. Hiett's auction sale of Kensington lots, which occurred yesterday afternoon, was a success first and last.

Of the 25 lots offered 22 were sold. The day was perfect and the attendance better than expected.

Mr. Hiett had made extensive preparations looking to the comfort of those attending. Refreshments were served, and carriages were at the disposition of all who desired to look about the beautiful addition.

After the sale began the lots moved rapidly, and it was dark when the last lot was knocked off to a purchaser.

The following purchased lots: 136, Anna Herke; 128, P. C. Keidenberg; 18, John C. Sheets; 19, Mr. H. C. Norton; 46, H. M. Chapman; 127, Morris Loenshal; 43, N. E. Hutchinson; 118 and 119, E. L. Barber; 148, E. L. Thornbury; 146, Lewis Barfield; 147, John E. Lynch; 42, T. B. Tucker; 29, J. W. Charles; 59, C. D. Clapp; 60, Frank Harrison; 30, Clapp & Harrison; 53 and 4, A. Bentley; 41 and 1, E. W. Chambers; 11, Joseph Johnson.

The gift of $100 worth of goods was distributed as follows among those in attendance: Miss Minnie Haigh, $30; W. S. Wright, $25; Anna Rauben, $20; Mrs. R. J. Thornbury, $15; Mrs. H. W. Benjamin, $10.

The Toledo Lumber company, who have the contract for the erection of the station at the corner of Dorr street and the Lake Shore railway, are making rapid progress with the work. At the price that lots are offered by Detwiler in this locality there is a bonanza for the lucky buyers.

For the performance of the "Agammenon" of Aeschylus at Bradfield college, in England, every detail was made as consistently Greek as possible. The open-air theater was as perfect a model of the ancient as modern scholarship could render it. It was constructed in a disused chalk pit, the tiers of seats being cut out of the solid rock and each labeled with its appropriate Greek number. In the play itself the only alteration was the omission of the masks. The spectacle was greatly enjoyed.

The reign of the dog star lasts for forty days, from July 3 to August 11. During that period of unhappiness to mankind, named by the ancients dies caniculares, and by moderns the dog days, the summer heat is always most oppressive. Sirius then rises and sets nearly with the sun. The star itself is the brightest luminary in Canis Major, in the southern firmament, and in the mythology of the heavens it is one of the two hounds held in leash by Orion.

There has been considerable change of late years in the buggy manufacturing business. Formerly the parts were nearly all made by different houses, the manufacturer buying his tops of one firm, his wheels of another, his axles of a third and so on. Since the great increase in manufacture in Missouri, Ohio and Illinois, in which states buggies are now produced by the thousand, the tendency to all home make has increased very rapidly, and now most of the large houses manufacture everything themselves.

A St. Louis man has taken out a patent for an electric jail. He runs wires through channels in all the bars and gratings, and between the stones or plates of the walls, ceilings and floors of his prison. By connecting their ends to a suitable alarm mechanism and keeping a current flowing through them, and disturbance or attempt at escape transmits a signal.

SPORTING GOSSIP.

Ollie Pecord Playing Good Ball for Columbus.

Indianapolis, July 26.—There was little to instil life into the game to-day, which was the last played by the Columbus and Indianapolis teams. The terrific heat reaching 115 degrees in the sun and even 100 degrees on the street in the shade, was more than ball players, unless rolling mill graduates, could comfortably endure. Sullivan gave out in the sixth inning and young Sowders was put in the box for the home team, then giving the visitors an opportunity to win.

Campau drank thirteen lemonades during the game and made three hits, the last being a home run that fairly exhausted the Hoosier fielders while chasing. For six innings it was beautifully close both as to atmosphere and score. In the second inning Abbey got his base on four balls that Sullivan, who was staggering with the heat, tossed

It was the ghost of the show they will stand of being the crack company in that section when Captain Carle gets his Tiffin boys disciplined to the tactics.—Fostoria Times. Did you ever hear the like of it? Tiffin boys are all right, but when it comes to comparison with the Cadets, well, the line must be drawn.

Are free from all crude and irritating matter. Concentrated medicine only. Carter's Little Liver Pills. Very small; very easy to take; no pain; no griping; no purging. Try them.

The new 58-hour law went into operation in Massachusetts a few days ago. It is intended to limit the hours of work for women and children in factories to 58 hours per week. The law is likely to lead to complications, as employers who have been getting 60 hours' labor per week may insist upon reducing wages proportionately to the reduction of time enforced by the statute. The outcome will be regarded with interest because of the bearing it will have upon the eight-hour question.

A grand excursion will be given on the steamer City of Toledo Wednesday evening, July 27, and Saturday evening, July 30, from dock foot of Madison street, at 8 o'clock, returning at 11:30. Three hours on Lake Erie. Music by the celebrated City of Toledo orchestra. Fare, 50c.

REMEMBER THAT

Up in the northern lakes lies the fairy Isle of Mackinac, which, on account of its great natural beauties and remarkable summer climate, has been reserved by the United States government as a national park. It lies in the midst of some of the most charming scenery and some of the finest fishing and hunting grounds in the country. The Michigan Central, which is the direct route to this elysium, has just published a profusely illustrated book descriptive of this region, which will be sent to any address upon application to Wm. J. Seinwerth, Southern Passenger Agent, Cincinnati, Ohio.

A New York lady has a weakness for murderers. She spends all her pocket money on bouquets, which she carries to the cells of the condemned and presents them to the occupants.

They are fond of old things down in Delaware. A Sussex county farmer preserves with pious care and exhibits with pride an ear of corn grown upon his father's farm in 1835, and another produced from the ancestral acres in 1735.

STAND BY MEGUIRE.

Philadelphia, July 26.—Local Union No. 8 of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America at a meeting last night repudiated an alleged official statement of the district council that it had adopted a resolution for the removal of the office of General Secretary P. J. Maguire from this city.
